April 2014's monthly index of economic activity, IMACEC.

According to preliminary information, in April the IMACEC rose 2.3% over the same month a year before. The seasonally-adjusted series showed no change with respect to the previous month, and increased 3.0% in twelve months. The month came with one less working day than April 2013.

The result reflected, mainly, an increase in mining and personal and entrepreneurial services, which was partially offset by a decline in the manufacturing industry..
